

Transporting sheep vast distances to be slaughtered in the Middle East is cruel.

There is no getting around it. The journeys are grueling and sheep routinely die in terrible circumstances.

Footage aired on 60 Minutes in April 2018 showed this all too distressingly. Yet the Australian government continues to allow it.

There is simply no way to make the mass export of live animals over long distances humane. Tell your local MP you want to see an end to live sheep exports.
