

From willhavemysay,

Cannot find where to make my submission on the live sheep export. In case I am too late before reaching the appropriate site, I would like to submit that switching to a welfare based model with a WBT of 28 degrees C is a better way to go. Animal level of suffering on these ships is of utmost importance but the mortality rate only gives very limited information as to what happens on board.

Thank you,

Anne

Sent from my iPad