While this original plan remains sound, more detailed planning is desirable to address the specific needs of each place. This will enable comparison between the remaining original pumping stations and inform the preparation of policy to manage each place in a way that is tailored to the requirements of its condition and community. The updated plans will include an archaeological survey of the broader area as well as site specific historical research and analysis.	The Goldfields Water Supply Scheme	WA	$80,000.00	$88,000.00

PNHSRD-45	Australian Convict Sites Signage Project	Port Arthur Historic Site Management Authority	This project will design and construct interpretation sign/panel for each of the Australian Convict Sites. Visitors currently do not have a strong grasp of how the 12 National Historic Sites together represent the key elements of the story of the forced migration of convicts to Australia. While each of the Australian Convict Sites has developed their own convict interpretation, there has not been a coordinated approach to communicating a consistent message that locates each of the 12 National Historic Sites as a component of a greater Australian Convict Sites World Heritage property whole. The Australian Convict Sites Signage Project would address this issue and would work in conjunction with the Interpretation Strategy that is currently being devised by the Australian Convict Sites Steering Committee.
